

Department of World Economy and External Economic Activity of Stavropol State University wishes to take part in JEP TEMPUS working out project named “The Center of permanent training of specialists by world economy: from school bench to job place”. The principal idea of this project is working out of three-level system of professionals training by world economy (entrant-specialist-master’s degree) in the frames of specialization “External Economic Activity” and introduction of new specializations, for example, “International Economic Collaboration”, “International Business”, “International Consulting”, “External Economic Activity of Firm and Organization”. In the conditions of enlargement of international economic links on national and regional levels we consider we must do career-guidance job with schoolmates and strengthen applied aspect of training at the expense of new scholar courses introduction and preparation of master’s degrees.

Work with abovementioned groups of future graduates will be done such a way as:

1. Work with entrants will be hold in the frames of distant training model using special training appliances by “World Economy” and “International Economic Relations” (introduction course).
2. Work with future specialists will be hold on the basis of training appliances perfection in the frames of specialization “External Economic Activity”.
3. The MA program training by “World Economy” with possible specializations “International Economic Collaboration”, “International Business”, “International Consulting”, “External Economic Activity of Firm and Organization” will be worked out.

The role of countries-co-partners seems to be:

1. The transfer of experience of European universities scholars to train master’s degree in Stavropol State University by abovementioned specializations.
2. Working out of joint scientific and training appliances by new scholar courses.
3. The scholars and students educational and scientific exchange.
4. Working out and advancement of joint scientific projects in external economic activity sphere.
5. Creation of joint Consultative Center for participants of external economic activity of Stavropol region.

The principal directions of Consultative Center activity may be:

- consultations on foreign trade legislation issues;
 - consultations on foreign trade contract signing;
 - analysis of external markets;
 - selection of foreign partners.
6. Conducting of competitions for schoolmates and students training by world economy to win foreign trips and training in the best European universities.
